

Genuine BLUE DELFT ENAMELED WARE At Davidson's Cash Store Only

LAST WEEK

We told you about Keen Kutter Cutlery and now we call your attention to the beautiful BLUE DELFT WARE. We have sold Strinsky's imported ware and many other kinds of enameled ware but the BLUE DELFT beats all of them. Three coats of enamel on heavy steel and every piece a beauty free from blemish and every piece an ornament.

IN THE KITCHEN

Like every article of merit and excellence the Blue Delft has imitators. It has won many friends among the housewives both for its beauty and durability, hence the imitations. Genuine Blue Delft is found in Phoenix only at Davidson's Cash Store and is labelled "genuine delft."

"The One-Eyed Man is King"

A man told us one morning that he believed no one had such good eyes as he. In making an examination a few minutes later we found to his surprise that the left eye was almost totally blind. It had probably been so for twenty years. This condition is not an uncommon one. If there is the slightest difference in your eyes we will detect it. If it is not too late we will place them upon an equal footing. It is our especial business to select and make up glasses suited to all kinds of eyes. We make no charge for consultation and advice.

Wylie returned yesterday morning from a month's trip in New Mexico and California and will today open an office in the O'Neill building on First avenue.

BOUGHT A RANCH—D. Littlejohn

who came here from Kansas, yesterday bought through the agency of J. L. Irvin, an eighty acre ranch about four miles east of Phoenix. The ranch was sold by R. L. Bott, the consideration being $3500. Mr. Bott bought the farm about a year ago and sold it at a very pleasing advance, though the selling price is considered cheap for the property.

CHICAGO VISITORS—Messrs. A. C. Bartlett and A. A. Sprague of Chicago arrived here yesterday morning and will remain until Monday when they expect to continue their travels to California. Mr. Bartlett is a large investor here and spends much of his time in Phoenix. Mr. Sprague is here as his guest and is a member of the wholesale grocery firm of Sprague, Warner & Co. of Chicago. He visited Phoenix a few years ago with the Chicago Commercial club and comes this time to look over the country less hastily.

FREE EMPLOYMENT OFFICE—

The gospel mission and free employment office at 207 west Washington street, is an institution that seems to be doing a great deal of good in the community for the poorer classes. Its managers report, that from Jan. 15 to Feb. 15 711 meals were served, 294 beds were furnished and employment was found for about 55 persons. The work is supported entirely by free will offerings and the managers solicit the good will and favors of all who desire to help the worthy poor of the city. Second hand clothing, bed quilts and groceries are all acceptable. Any one desiring to communicate may ring telephone Black 774.

HAD TO BE DONE OVER—The town was started by an unaccountable uproar in the Chinese quarter last night. There was a bursting of bombs, a beating of tom toms and a crash of fire crackers louder than the noise made during the celebration which ended last Sunday night, of the Chinese New Year. The Chinese have lived here so long that most people are aware of the times of their festivities but this was a new one and hundreds attracted by the noise went to China town to find out what had broken loose. It was learned that a mistake had been made in the date of the recent celebration. It was begun nearly two weeks too early. That was not known until the arrival a few days ago of a Chinese dignitary at San Francisco. The Chinese calendar is 6000 years old and appears to have been arranged with greater care than any of the other ancient calendars; that is there was a less variation between it and the procession of the sun. But there was so much variation in the course of the sixty centuries the calendar got off nearly two weeks. That difference has been adjusted.

NEW PHOENIX DRUGGIST—Mr. N. N. Miller of Los Angeles has bought the drug store of T. F. Hudson on the corner of Center and Washington streets. Though Mr. Miller has resided in Los Angeles most of the time for a number of years, he has been in business in various western towns and is a thoroughly western man. He is not an entire stranger to Arizona for at one time he was in the drug business in Tombstone. Later he lived in Yuma county and served that county on the federal grand jury that met here in those days, forming the acquaintance of a number of Phoenix people who still remember him. After going to California he was in business in Randburg. At the time of the big fire there he burned out but rebuilt at once and later sold out to good advantage. After selling his Los Angeles store a short time ago he went to Goldfields and Tonopah and was very much impressed with the activity of those camps, but there was no good opportunity to get into business except by starting a new store and the transportation lines are so inadequate they are simply buried with freight so he did not care to take the risk of ordering a stock that might be months in getting there. Then he came to Phoenix, for he always had a liking for the place and when he noted the improvements since his last visit and the future prospects he decided to locate at once. He is a man that believes in doing things. He wants quick action and don't allow his money to rust in his pocket. He got here in the morning and that evening he owned the Hudson drug store and wrote a letter at once to Mrs. Miller to pack up the family effects and join him at her earliest convenience. Mr. Miller is an experienced pharmacist and says he proposes to run a first class store and hopes to merit a liberal patronage. Mr. Hudson will take a rest of a month or so, visiting California and on his return will devote himself exclusively to his mining interests.

AMUSEMENTS

Lewis Morrison himself will appear at the Hardwick theatre on next Monday night Feb. 20 with his novel, highly effective and superb new production of "Faust." Long and costly experiments for producing a flash of lightning in miniature have at last proved successful. The minute electric discharges from murky clouds add considerably to the wild sublimity of the effect of the church scene. A series of rich toned bells ring out full and clear while the worshippers assemble. As the lingering echoes of the bells die softly away, the voices of the singers announce the opening of services within the sacred edifice. Appropriate orchestral music forms a fitting accompaniment to several of the scenes. The musical selections given with the action of the play comprise gems from Gounod's score of "Faust" and selections from the compositions of Rossini and Meyerbeer and other great composers. Mr. Morrison is supported by an excellent company. Seats on sale at Goodman's tomorrow at 9 a. m.

Though long hidden from the English speaking dramatic world while it was shining brightly in five Latin countries, a light has burst upon us with grateful radiance. In "Marta of the Lowlands" which will be produced by Florence Roberts at the Hardwick Wednesday afternoon, there is brought to us a message of the prophet who is not without honor in his own country and who is come to command a hearing as universal as the world-old and world-wide theme which he has mastered. Angel Guimerà, the author, is a Catalan poet and dramatist, whose plays are acted in every Latin language. Though the province of Catalonia is his world, and though his life is given to the service of his country, it is only the setting of "Marta" that is local. Acted in any country, spoken in the gibberish of the Hottentot or in the tongue of ancient Greece, or seen by the deaf, the story would be understood. Miss Roberts has invested the play with a cast of extraordinary quality and a production that is complete in every detail. "Zaza" will be produced on an elaborate scale on Tuesday night and "The story of the 'Lovers'" on Wednesday night. Seats on sale at Goodman's.
